Event Description:

Engineering Link Project 1 to 2 October 2015

The Engineering Link Group is proud to continue our partnership with the University of Technology Sydney (UTS) Faculty of Engineering and Information Technology. This project is open to Year 10, 11 and 12 students currently (or intending to study) Unit 3 Mathematics (or higher), Engineering Studies, Physics, Chemistry, Technology or other science-related subjects.

An Engineering Link Project follows the design - make - appraise model of problem solving, so each group will fully prepare their solution on paper, present it to the engineer for approval and then have the opportunity to construct their solution. Each group's solution will be tested to ensure it meets the criteria set, then extended beyond the scope of the design, usually to destruction!

Students will participate in a different engineering module each day, facilitated by engineers from UTS and local industry. Each module is designed to showcase an example of engineering in that discipline, as well as being:

hands-on practical

relevant to maths and science being studied at school interesting

challenging

fun!

Students can choose experiences from the following choices:

Mechanical Engineering

Civil Engineering

Power and Electrical Engineering

Software and Computer Systems Engineering

Biomedical Engineering, and others...
